The History of Essential Skills

The Northern Ireland government launched its Essential Skills for Living Strategy in 2002. The aim of the strategy was to improve adult literacy, numeracy and Information & Communication Technology (ICT) in Northern Ireland. A suite of Essential Skills qualifications was developed as part of this strategy. The suite of qualifications comprises qualifications from Entry level up to Level 2 in Literacy/Communication and Numeracy/Application of Number, and qualifications at Level 1 and 2 in ICT. The qualifications were designed to be suitable for learners in education, training, work and everyday life situations who would like to gain a nationally accredited qualification.

A review of Essential Skills level 1 & 2 Certificates in Communication and Application of Number was initiated in 2015 to refresh these particular qualifications and ensure they were suitable for learners from age 14 upwards. The result of this review is a set of revised specifications for the delivery of level 1 & 2 Communication and Application of Number from September 2016.

Administration Arrangements

Assessment Opportunities

OCN NI will offer external assessment of Essential Skills as per published dates available on the OCN NI website. <https://www.ocni.org.uk/essential-skills/>

Resits

Learners may be entered for external assessment up to three times within the academic year. The assessor should be satisfied that learners have completed sufficient remedial work before being entered for a resit.

OCN NI will take the appropriate precautions to protect the integrity of the qualification and learner achievement by identifying and recording papers taken by individual learners and ensuring through its processes that learners completing a resit will not take the same test.

Assessment arrangements

Centres must ensure that they comply with the current Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) document 'Instructions for Conducting Examinations'. Further guidance can be obtained from OCN NI's Essential Skills Team.

Centres must ensure that:

- all hard and electronic copies of materials are treated as confidential and stored securely at all times
- external assessments are presented to learners as 'unseen'
- external assessments are completed in an environment that is free from noise/disturbance
- learners are continuously supervised by a suitable and reliable person for the duration of the task. A suitable person cannot include the learners' tutor.
- learners are not given any assistance whilst completing the task
- externally marked assessments are carried out under examination conditions

Learners with Particular Requirements

Assessment within the OCN NI Essential Skills qualification in Application of Number at Level 1 is designed to be accessible and inclusive. The assessment methodology is appropriate and rigorous for individuals or groups of learners. If a learner has a particular requirement and access arrangements, please refer to the OCN NI Reasonable Adjustment and Special Consideration Policy. This provides guidance on the reasonable adjustments and arrangements that can be accessed to ensure the individual needs of the learner are met.

OCN NI are committed to Equality, Diversity and Inclusion. For learners with disabilities who are classified as disabled under the terms of the DDA and cannot use assistive technology, a human scribe may be used. Centres must seek approval from the OCN NI in advance.
